

Government regulations controlling unsolicited faxes from members would severely hurt association business and growth.